Several months ago, residents were informed, through meetings and various emails, about the specifications issues. Don't confuse the Verizon FIOS ONT box with the router. The ONT box is wall mounted and has green lights, the router has a single white light on the front at the top.

Understanding FIOS 150/150 Internet Connection Speeds

concerning the FIOS transition. One of the specifications included the Internet connection speed residents would have. The higher the number, the faster web pages, downloaded files and movie streaming would load into the computer resulting in faster and smoother Internet operation. The 150/150 (download/upload) specification is accurate and consistent with FIOS in Hershey's Mill. However, this specification is only valid when your device is connected to the Verizon router via an Ethernet cable. If you connect to the Internet via a wireless connection (Wi-Fi) this specification does not apply. This is due to the architecture of Wi-Fi which is completely different from a wired connection. Some issues that come into play are the distance your Wi-Fi device is from the router, interference from your neighbors operating on the same frequency or channel, the hardware inside your device and other more subtle technical

Now to really confuse things, there are actually two connection speeds involved with a Wi-Fi connection. The first is the 150/150 speed coming into the router from Verizon FIOS. This is fixed per the bulk contract between Hershey's Mill and Verizon. This speed may be higher if you opted for it during sign-up. The second speed is the Wi-Fi speed between your device and the Wi-Fi portion of the Verizon FIOS router. This is the one to observe since your device is constantly adjusting itself to maximize a fast, stable connection.

To check this, open the Control Panel and then click Network and Sharing Center. The Control Panel can be accessed by typing "co" (no quotes) in the "Type here to search" field in the lower left corner of the Desktop screen for Windows 10, then pressing the Enter key. In Category view, click on "View network status and tasks" or in "Large icon" view click "Network and Sharing Center". Next, across from "Connections:" click your Internet connection. The "Speed:" number you see represents a combination of the issues mentioned in the first paragraph. To test, place your wireless device next to the router and observe the number. If it maxes out at 150 Mbps, then your hardware may be limiting a higher number. Don't confuse this number with the 150/150 FIOS number. Newer computers with up to date components can theoretically achieve up to 450 Mbps under this test although 300 Mbps is more realistic. Even if you see a Speed: number above 150 Mbps, you won't get a faster speed because the FIOS speed is set at 150 Mbps. The bottom line is that anything above 54 Mbps can give you a satisfactory network experience although higher is better. Below 54 Mbps may also work satisfactorily but it will be somewhat slower in downloading information.

In addition there are two web sites I recommend that can check your download/upload speeds. Keep in mind that when running a web-based speed test, it combines both the base FIOS speed and the speed between your device and the router. One is www.speedtest.net. Click on "Change Server" and select "New Castle, De. - Comcast" then click "Go". It seems the Comcast server provides a more accurate speed test than the one from Line Systems. The other is from Verizon. The address is: <https://www.verizon.com/SpeedTest/learnspeedtest.aspx>.

Discussion and possible fixes regarding slow Internet speed will take place at our PC Club meeting on Tuesday, August 21 at 7 p.m. upstairs in the Community Center.

My husband and I were curious to see if the Brickside Grille in Exton still offered delicious seafood and American fare. To our best recollection, it's been 10 years since our last visit. We returned one afternoon recently and were pleased to recognize some former favorites on the menu and a couple new items this trip.

Our server, Katlyn, was very sweet, offering suggestions about the specialties and their most popular dishes. On her recommendation, I ordered the Naked Lobster Roll. The lobster meat, poached in butter, lemon and chives was served open-face on a soft, potato roll. Included with the entrée was just the right portion of sea salt fries and cole slaw. I thought the lobster was slightly overcooked but nicely seasoned.

Gary took advantage of the Wednesday special, a buck a shuck for any of their market fresh oysters. I don't know a thing about eating raw oysters, but I do find their names often intriguing. Gary chose the Skookum from the Hood Canal, Washington, and a Blue Point from Long Island Sound, NY. Both oysters disappeared easily, earning a four star rating based heavily on the accompanying Mignonette sauce.

For his next course, he ordered the warm goat cheese strawberry salad. Here's the description, because you'll probably want to serve this at your next dinner party: walnut encrusted goat cheese, kale, baby spinach, strawberries, pickled red onions, strawberry and white balsamic vinaigrette, fig drizzle. Oh my stars.

Along with the salad, he ordered the Blackened Swordfish Tacos. Katlyn did warn him it's a spicy dish. Undeterred and pleased with the combination, he was a happy camper. The tacos were so loaded with chunks of fish that he asked for a box to take one home.

or Beer Garden establishments in the Eagleview Restaurant Row. Clientele at lunch was primarily business professionals and senior citizens. There's plenty of seating, approximately 300 inside in well-lit rooms with the option of tables or booths. Outside they can

I think he knew that I was not leaving without trying the Peanut Butter Pie. Chef Drew Weintraub formerly owned the Drafting Room on Route 100. This popular dessert originated there and happily did not disappear from chef's repertoire, even though he sold that restaurant. The pie was indescribably delicious!

Now, just a few general comments to wrap up. This restaurant is less than 20 minutes away and was busier than the adjacent Mexican, Italian, Japanese

Joe Kennedy | Princeton

One of the most inspiring stories to come out of the Second World War was the heroic action of four chaplains during the sinking of the Dorchester, a U.S. Army attack transport, in the North Atlantic on Feb. 3, 1943.

The chaplains – the Rev. George Fox (Methodist), Rabbi Alexander Goode (Jewish), Clark Poling (Reformed), and the Rev. John Washington (Roman Catholic) – gave up their life jackets, and lives, to save others on the ship. Survivors wrote, “I saw all four chaplains taking off their life belts and giving them to soldiers who had none.”

“They were praying and talking with the men.”

“They stood near the rail praying for those already in the water as the ship went under.”

“I think their names should be on a list of the greatest heroes of the war.”

These are just a few of many statements in affidavits sent to the U.S. Army by survivors.

Locally, a small organization, the Chapel of the Four Chaplains, has worked for many decades to maintain the memory of the sacrifice these men of faith made. The chapel in that time has migrated from the Temple University campus to a temporary home in Valley Forge to the Naval Business Center, formerly the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

The Dorchester was sailing in a convoy out of Newfoundland bound for Greenland. The ship carried a crew of approximately 150 and more than 700 soldiers and passengers. About four o'clock on a frigid morning, the ship was hit on the starboard side by a torpedo from a German submarine. The explosion ripped a large hole in the hull, stopped the engines, and caused a list. Within three minutes, the captain gave the order, “Abandon ship!”

Only two lifeboats and a few rafts were launched before the ship began to go down by the bow. The Dorchester sank in just 20 minutes. More than 600 people lost their lives, mostly to hypothermia. U.S. Coast Guard Cutters escorting the convoy rescued about 180 people.

The four chaplains were posthumously awarded the Purple Heart and the Distinguished Service Cross. “Their calm attitude and sacrifice were later acknowledged by Congress, which voted to ...award them a medal of heroism,” Robert M. Browning, Jr. wrote in U.S. Merchant Vessel War Casualties of World War II.

After the war, the Rev. Daniel J. Poling of Philadelphia, father of Clark Poling, founded the Chapel of the Four Chaplains with its headquarters at the Baptist Temple on the Temple campus. President Harry S. Truman dedicated the chapel in 1951.

In 1990, the Four Chaplains organization was forced to look for new quarters when the University announced plans to demolish the Baptist Temple. The school later decided to restore the building but by then the chapel was gone.

A local jeweler, Jack Kellmer, donated two acres in the Valley Forge area, and plans were drawn up to build a chapel there. The cost was set at $2.5 million. A temporary chapel was set up at the Valley Forge Mall, west of Phoenixville on Route 23. But the chapel was never built because the money was not raised. The plan had to be abandoned.

Since 2001, the Four Chaplains organization has been housed in the chapel of the old Navy Yard. The chapel has two striking pieces of artwork that illustrate the courage of the four men of God.

A six by ten foot mural painted in 1951 by Nils Hogner depicts the four chaplains giving up their life belts to others as the Dorchester is sinking. A painting by Dudley Gloyne Summers done in 1945 shows the four standing hand in hand as the ship goes down. For many years it hung in the Brotherhood Building of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in New York City. It is now on permanent loan to the chapel.

A recent article in the Philadelphia Inquirer indicated that the chapel was now holding a yearly opioid symposium with support going directly to victims suffering from the addiction.

The story of the chaplains also lives on at the Immortal Chaplains Foundation on the campus of Hamline University in St. Paul, Minnesota. And the tale has been told over and over in newspaper and magazine articles and books. In 2004 the book *No Greater Glory: The Four Immortal Chaplains and the Sinking of the Dorchester in World War II*, by journalist Dan Kurzman was published.

On Monday, August 20 at 7 p.m. upstairs in the Community Center, we will present The Book Thief (PG-13, 2013). Young Liesel, the main character, is sent to live with an adoptive family. The story unfolds as her foster father teaches her to read and she discovers the world of books. Also during that time, her foster parents hide a Jewish boy from the Nazis in their home; he and Liesel become friends. The Book Thief addresses the power of the written word and seeks to show that even during the most horrific of times, human kindness can prevail.

HERSHEY'S MILL (MAY CALL YOU)

Sung to the melody of "Bali Hi" from South Pacific
Lyrics by Wally Hart

Verse 1

Hershey's Mill may call you,
When you turn fifty-five.
Come to me and stay active,
You'll feel young and alive.

Verse 2

Play some golf or go swimming,
Act and sing, shoot some pool.
Keep you speed at twenty-seven,
That's our most important rule.

Bridge

It's your turn to shine,
There's so much to do.
Good times and new friends
Are all here for you!

Verse 3

Join the Club, or the Wood Shop,
Or the TV Twenty Crew,
Everything you ever wanted,
Is waiting here for you.

Ending

Hershey's Mill, Hershey's Mill,
Hershey's Mill.

WOODSHOP EXPANSION

Fred Auger | Aston Woodshop President

The HM Woodshop construction has finally begun! Mountains of soil have been excavated to accommodate the 1,000 square foot Woodshop addition. As the weeks progress, so will the Woodshop’s new profile.

So please join our celebration and excitement! We welcome your donation, small or large. It would be greatly appreciated. Remember, the HM Woodshop is a nonprofit organization, saving our community members thousands of dollars with our valued furniture repair. We serve our community and the KenCrest charity foundation by fabricating adaptable furniture for handicapped children. We are very proud of the way Hershey’s Mill resi-

The foundation well underway! Photos supplied by Fred Auger of Ashton.

While construction continues, our Woodshop volunteers are preparing the existing Woodshop interior for a new facelift and continuing to work on their many projects and furniture repairs for our residents. The additional space will allow us to improve our facilities and welcome new members to the Woodshop amenity. This is a great time to join the Woodshop and participate in its phenomenal growth. The Woodshop is one of the top amenities that attract prospective new residents.

All the members of the Woodshop want to take this opportunity to thank everyone in Hershey’s Mill for their support.

Follow this suspenseful story as Deputy Sheriff, Will Kemp, attempts to solve the shocking murder of a young researcher found floating in the waters of the Chesapeake Bay. Save the Date - Hershey's Mill Bowling League invites you to join us on October 2, 2018 at 10 a.m. for twenty-five weeks of bowling with your friends and neighbors. We bowl at the Palace Bowling Alley in Downingtown on Route 30 across from Wegman's supermarket. No prior experience necessary. We welcome all ages, averages and skill levels. Our objective is to get together once per week in a pleasant, fun, somewhat competitive environment. Bring your friends! It's a great way to brighten the winter days. If you are joining us for the first time, please contact Doll and John Elwell or 610-296-1893 with questions. To confirm your interest, please send an email to ddejce@aol.com on or before September 15.

TENNIS

Dave Clewell | Robynwood

Happy summer to everyone! We are having a great summer of tennis at The Mill between the "inner-club team", nightly 3:30 p.m. tennis, Saturday 9:30 a.m. tennis, the Braverman Games and other special events. Why don't you come join us? Also get ready for Labor Day's all sport events and the "Davis Cup" in September. Get into tennis now by calling, texting, emailing me at

, or by using the ROCO registration systems on the HM website, [www.hershey mill.org](http://www.hershey mill.org).

PICKLEBALL

Tom Fant | Yardley

Fun, Fun, Fun...I'm sure Brian Wilson and Mike Love won't mind the Old Fantom using their 1964 Beach Boys song title to describe a pickleball happening in September as part of the Sport's Group's annual Davis Cup knock off. As of the writing of this article, the date will be Saturday, September 8, so as to hopefully avoid vacations and miss most of the summer heat.

Fun: A flag waiving march as part of the opening ceremony with four country sponsored teams made up of both tennis and pickleball players. Joining in the hi-jinx is the U.S., Great Britain, France and Australia, the major countries that sponsor tennis. No surprise, pickleball is pure American.

Fun: A pickleball round robin tournament right after the ceremony with 4, six or more person teams playing for prizes. For a small fee, refreshments and photo ops abound for all well-wishing fans.

Fun: A lunch at the Cove with some international dishes that might include shepherd's pie, barbequed shrimp and quiche.

(Above) Arlene Seeger, Franklin and Dolores Bauerschmidt, Glenwood
(At right) Dave Nagurney, Jefferson and John DeVol, Princeton (Below) George Madden, Troon and Seth French, Yardley

There will be American hot dogs, of course, plus beer and wine.

Important note: Naturally, a special Hershey's Mill style effort is made to include newer pickleball players in this special day.

The pickleball portion of the annual tournament is referred to as The Roger's Cup honoring our founder and now HM Golf Club President, Roger Karr. Thank you Lisa and George Groff for naming the honoree as well as initiating the Davis Cup at The Mill.

No need to point out the increasing popularity of our game. All you have to do is drive by the area between the tennis courts and the swimming pool between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, plus 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays, and 2 to 4 p.m. on Sundays. Not to worry, a lot of play can be accommodated. We have six all weather courts that recover from a morning rain fast enough, most times, to allow afternoon games if there are no conflicts.

Check our reserved times out! With the help of a talented pickleballer, Larry Appalucci, plus the overall boss, Don Evons, we are well set up on the Sports Group reservation system, ROCO, located on the HMSG website.

RECIPES

Summer is perfect for soup and salad, and the recent World Cup has us remembering hearty Russian fare from our time in Saint Petersburg. If your goal is trying something new and delicious, these recipes should be an easy score!

Solyanka (солёнка)

A Russian sweet and sour beef soup.

1¼ pounds beef (trimmed chuck)
3 ounces salami (hard)
6 ounces kielbasa sausage
5 ounces boneless ham
5 whole black peppercorns
3 whole allspice berries
1 bay leaf
5 ounces bacon, minced
1 large yellow onion, thinly sliced
1½ stalks celery, thinly sliced
¼ head cabbage, cored and shredded
7 tablespoons tomato paste
1 (15-oz.) can peeled whole tomatoes in juice, crushed
6 cups beef stock
2 large dill pickles, chopped
2 tablespoons capers, drained
¼ cup pitted black olives, sliced
2 tablespoons sugar
½ lemon, very thinly sliced
Salt and black pepper
Garnish with chopped parsley, sliced scallions, and sour cream

Cut the four meats to ¼" cubes. Make a cheesecloth sachet with the peppercorns, allspice, and bay leaf. In a large saucepan, over medium-high heat, cook bacon until fat is rendered, then add meats and cook until browned. Add onion, celery, cabbage, and tomato paste, and cook until soft. Add tomatoes, stock, and sachet, and bring to a boil; then reduce heat to medium, add pickles and capers, and cook until beef is very tender. Remove sachet, add olives, sugar, and lemon, and season to taste. Cook a few minutes, then serve with garnish.

Olivier Salad (Салат Оливье)

The famous Russian "potato salad".

3 medium russet potatoes
1 large red potato
4 large carrots
1 pound fresh sweet peas
8 eggs
1¼ pounds bologna
6 dill pickles
3 sweet pickles
2 seedless cucumbers
2 cups mayonnaise
2 teaspoons wine vinegar
1½ teaspoons Dijon mustard
1 sweet onion, minced
Salt and freshly ground pepper
Garnish with fresh chives

Boil unpeeled potatoes and carrots just until tender, then cool and cut into cubes. Blanch the peas, then cool. Hardboil the eggs, then cool, peel, and cube. Cube bologna, pickles, and cucumbers. Combine all above with mayonnaise, vinegar, mustard, and onion. Season to taste, then serve with garnish.

HMGC Women's Golf Team
 Donna Dickerson | Ulster

Hershey's Mill Golf Club has two ladies' teams that compete in the Women's Golf Association of Philadelphia (WGAP). Our team coordinator for 2018 is Lynne Carter. Our first team captain is Theresa one in the 5th cup and one in the 19th cup. There are seven members per team. Twenty three Hershey's Mill women signed up for WGAP this year. That is a healthy and necessary roster to draw from in order to field two teams over a three week period. Each year there are five matches at the end of April and beginning of May. At times,

HM Golf Club Women's Golf Team

Grentz and our second team captain is Tammy Wampler. All three, working together, have done a phenomenal job in guiding our teams to victory.

Hershey's Mill women golfers are part of WGAP, which is the oldest women's golf association in the United States. It was founded in 1897 to give women golfers an opportunity to compete against other amateur players who belong to member clubs in the Philadelphia area. Currently, 91 country/golf clubs belong to WGAP. There are 138 teams that make up 23 cups or flights.

Hershey's Mill has participated in WGAP team competitions for over thirty years. Our ladies field two teams:

due to absences, players from the second team move up to play on the first team and the subs fill in on the second team. It is a full roster effort.

Our second team plays in the 19th cup and the girls have maintained their position in that cup for a number of years. Our first team was in the 8th cup a few years ago. The team members have continued to win their matches during the last few years, and the team has moved up in cups each year. In 2018, they have made it to the 5th cup.

Not only is it a time commitment, but the ladies buy their own uniforms and host their opponents for lunch at HMGC when playing at home. Depending on where the opponent's club is located, the ladies can travel up to 1½ hours away and they are responsible for cart fees and/or caddie fees.

We also have two women from the 18 holer group who volunteer to organize a continental breakfast each day

Golf Tip

A good golf swing starts with good solid fundamentals. One of the major fundamentals is proper posture. A bad posture will lead to a swing full of compensations that will cost you distance, direction, and consistency. To get in the proper "athletic" setup, first stand with your legs shoulder width apart with your toes slightly flared outward. Next, lock your knees straight and bend from hips allowing your arms to hang vertically from your shoulders. Locking your knees should force your back into a nice flat position. The final step is to now unlock and bend both knees slightly. You should feel yourself in a very athletic, balanced, and ready position to begin your swing.

Matthew Harvey, PGA

either team plays at home. Our visiting clubs are always impressed with not only the food, but the presentation and hospitality. For the past two years, Val Anewalt and Kathy Schilling have done an excellent job as hostesses.

So when you are driving or walking near the course and you see a woman in a bright green shirt or jacket with HMGC logo, you are looking at a Hershey's Mill ladies' team member.

Wednesday, August 1 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The final month of summer seems to arrive more quickly each year, but we still have more than four weeks of relaxing fun in the sun remaining.

Speaking of fun, youngsters are enjoying the special activities planned by the lifeguards for them each day during adult-only swim time. Whether playing ball, chasing the guards, or spraying them with water, the children are having a good time while their parents and/or grandparents take the opportunity to swim laps or simply walk in the water. time last summer, and it has become a “hit” with the children as well as the adults. The lifeguards enjoy it, too. While watching one day, I couldn’t decide who was having more fun, the children or the guards.

We also have a special fun time for all residents of the Mill every other Friday evening at our Happy Hours. Just bring an appetizer or dessert to share and BYOB. There’s always plenty of food to share. Sit and chat with friends, take a leisurely swim, water walk, or play

We are in the process of planning the end-of-summer gathering for all of our pool lovers. Pat Meehan and Brian Wallace of Weichert Realtors will sponsor the Webb Band of Brothers for everyone to enjoy at our final special event on September 1.

Girls’ Night Out is scheduled for Wednesday, August 1– soon after you receive this Guide & Digest. Fill out an event form and join us.

Come out to the pool before the chilly fall days and nights are back with us.
